Saurabh Kumar Singh (12210619)

Piyush Kumar C (12211026)

Aaditya Gupta C (12209197)

⇒ In our project we made a online Front Page of a Hospital.

In this project we used HTML and CSS to create and design the Pages.

In our first page i.e Home page we inserted background images in Horizontal gradient and styled. we also used transition and padding and many other features like display, and etc., we also used various HTML style attribute to highlighted various Important Informations.

The front page contains information about Hospital, its location, its medicare plans and an forum to book an appointment. whereas the other 4 pages contain detail of timing of Doctors, their Qualifications, Services provided by them, Detail about their Department, and the last one is their contact and email details.

we also used `` tag which is used here for creating various sections and had created a list option inside an ordered list → In section tag we also created various section and paragraphs.

we also used footer tag to show various contact information.

→ As hospital contains various programs for their patient. So for to show it in a proper manner we use `<li>` tag and `<ul>` & `</ul>` tag
